Artist Statement

"I get an immense satisfaction from painting still life. In an age when noise and activity is difficult to escape, I try to paint stillness and silence, with light being the only actor.

Painting subjects, in a window of intimacy, with no hidden meaning, and no explanation. I paint, with just the chance, that the viewer may find for however brief a time, a space where no noise or action is required of them. Then the genre of still life becomes self-fulfilling."
